A.G. -v- Leroy Zeeman
(Larceny)

BAILIFF: Zeeman, you came to Jersey under circumstances which are unusual but within a very short time you utilised your knowledge acquired through the friendship of two persons, a woman and a man who trusted you and gave you some work when you needed it and you abused the trust of both of them, particularly of Mr. Smith. You used your knowledge to steal from him and had it not been for the alertness of C.T. Main staff, who we commend for acting as they did, you would probably have gotten away with it or you might have at any rate, it has only been discovered quite a long time until this month. We cannot find any mitigating circumstances which would entitle us to reduce the conclusions below those asked for by the Solicitor General. You are sentenced to 12 months.
